About me

As a person who is always keen to learn new things, I look out for all kinds of opportunities where I can benefit myself by acquiring new skills and gaining practical experience. I have tried various niches of Computer Science throughout the duration of my Undergraduate studies in a Bachelor Of Science in Information Technology at Parul University and have found my forte is Artificial Intelligence as I took it as a specialization. Currently seeking to leverage my knowledge and skills to work at your organization for the combined growth of the organization as well as me.
